

Monday, October 31, 2005

The Power of One

The previous post called for Christians to be well-qualified for the work God calls them to do in the public square. The implication was intellectual qualifications. Sometimes, the qualification is simply character with courage. Rosa Parks was not qualified to be a Supreme Court Justice, nevertheless her character and courage, exercised at the right time and place, effectively changed the laws of the Land.

Posted by Cal in Current Events at 09:27